The work is editorial. The path to book it isn't.

Bio

Your bio link sends 2,838 followers to the wrong page

It opens a Flodesk form titled "YORKSHIRE BASED LIFESTYLE PHOTOGRAPHR" (typo included) that asks "business or motherhood?". Your bio says editorial brand photography for female founders. The first click contradicts it.

"Book Now" is a contact form, on every page

No calendar, no deposit, no price until the branding page. A founder ready to spend £550 has to enquire and wait. Checked 13 October.

404

Footer Blog, Terms and Privacy go to a dead staging domain

All three link to nc.jimmonkhouse.com, which doesn't resolve. Anyone checking your terms before paying hits nothing.

Three different positionings on one site

Contact page title: "let's talk about your wedding". About URL: leeds-wedding-photographer. Footer: "branding and family lifestyle photographer". Google and your visitors don't know which Natasha they're booking.

9 shoots

published this month, zero case studies

SkinWorx, Studio 490, Laura Penrose, Ariel White… each one is a page that could rank for "[their industry] brand photography Leeds" and bring you the next client like them. Today they're a grid.

3 links

Three freebies on three separate pages, no path to a booking

Posing Guide, 25 prompts and the checklist each live on their own Flodesk page. The person who downloads one never gets walked to the Content Edit.

No deposit taken online

Every booking is confirmed by email ping-pong. Each day of back-and-forth is a day a founder can change her mind.

Let's do the maths, conservatively.

£1,100

A MONTH, FROM TWO SHOOTS YOU DON'T CURRENTLY WIN

If the bio link and "Book Now" together lose you just one Content Edit (£550) and one Portrait Edit (£300) a month, plus one headshot session a quarter (£300), that's about £1,100 a month, before a single website package. It isn't that people don't want the shoot. It's that the first click doesn't match, and the second click is a form.

x3

One website package is worth three Content Edits

The Strategy Clinic package (from £1,750) is your highest-ticket offer, and it's one line on a page. Nobody searching "website and brand photos Leeds" lands on it.

0 of 2,838

Followers who are actually on your list from the bio

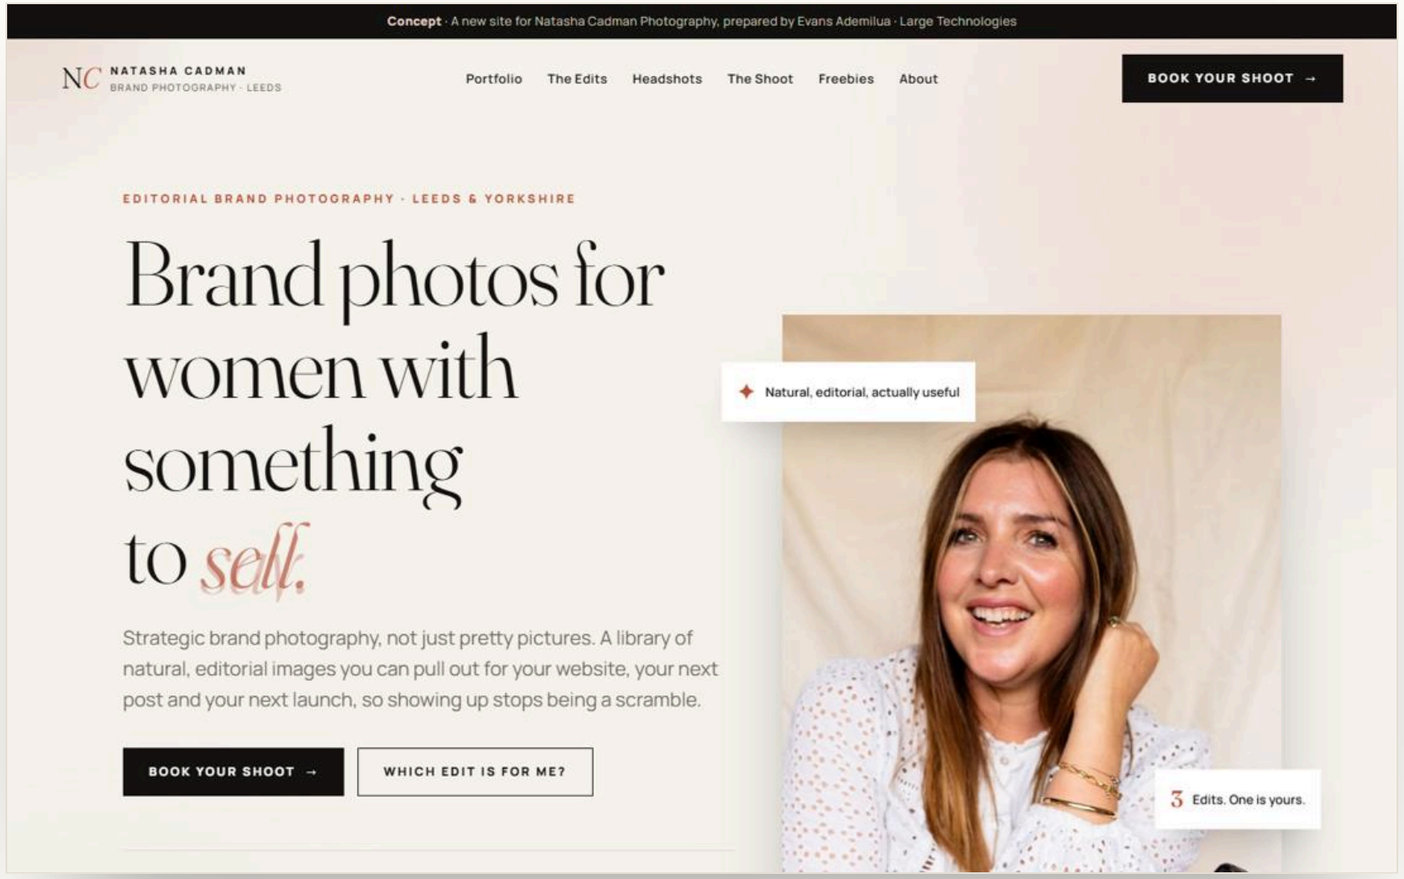

The bio form captures "business or motherhood", not "which Edit". Without a freebie that leads to a booking, every follower is one algorithm change away from gone.

10 years

of client work Google can't see

Your portfolio is images on a page. Case studies with the client's name, industry and results are what rank, and what a founder forwards to her business partner.

evansademilua.vercel.app/natashacadman

- ✓ One message at the top: brand photos for women with something to sell, with you in the picture.
- ✓ "Which Edit is for you?": three buttons, and the site recommends the Portrait, Content or Complete Edit with the price.
- ✓ Portfolio you can filter: studio, location, teams, headshots, with a lightbox. Your real clients, your real shoots.
- ✓ The Edits with prices on the page and a Book button that pre-selects the shoot.
- ✓ Headshots and the Website + Photography package as their own offers, not a footer link.
- ✓ One freebie form for all three guides, and a booking form that asks for the month, not "enquire".
- ✓ Animated, fast, perfect on a phone. Footer links that go somewhere.

It's a concept: words and images come from your site and Instagram. Everything adjusts with you.

Three engines that book shoots while you're shooting.

Book and pay online

What changes: prices on the page, a quiz that picks the Edit, a booking form that asks for the month, and a deposit link that secures the date (Stripe or your current provider).

How it pays: a founder who's ready at 10pm books at 10pm. No email ping-pong, no cooling off. Deposits in, dates filled, and you see every booking in one panel.

Freebie → 4 emails → Content Edit

What changes: one form for the Posing Guide, the prompts and the checklist. Then four automatic emails over 10 days: what happens on a shoot, a client story, how to plan a quarter of content from one shoot, and the invitation to book the Content Edit.

How it pays: the bio link finally does one job: collect the founder's email and walk her to a £550 booking, automatically.

Case studies that sell the big package

What changes: each recent shoot becomes a page: SkinWorx (clinic team), Studio 490 (interiors), Ariel White (founder at home), with the client's words and the images in use. The Website + Photography package gets its own page with two of those as proof.

How it pays: founders forward case studies. Google ranks them. The £1,750 package stops being a footer link.

What it can add per month.

ENGINE	ASSUMPTION	PER MONTH
Freebie form from the bio 3% of 2,838 followers visit per month (85); 40% leave an email	34 new emails Your list grows ~100 a quarter, plus Google visitors	—
Content Edit from the sequence 1 in 30 emails books within the 10 days	1 × £550	£550
Portrait Edit + Headshots Online booking with price shown converts 1 extra per month	1 × £300	£300
Complete Edit 1 every quarter from case studies + the quiz	£895 ÷ 3	£298
Website + Photography package 1 every quarter from its own page and two case studies	£1,750 ÷ 3	£583
New per month On top of what you already book by referral and Instagram	≈ £20,800 a year	£1,731

Month 1 → 3

Engine 2 compounds

The list doesn't reset. By month three, 300 founders get every shoot opening, every retreat and every Black Friday, without Instagram deciding who sees it.

1 package

pays for the project

One Website + Photography package booked from the new page covers the build. Everything after is yours.

The percentages are standard for service businesses selling to founders, and I've kept them low on purpose. With your portfolio and ten years of clients, the normal outcome is above these.

Be found when she's ready to book, not just when she's scrolling.

Google

One Natasha, one message

Titles and URLs that say brand photographer, not wedding or family. The Edits, Headshots and Websites each on their own page with the price, so "branding photographer Leeds price" lands on you. Old URLs redirected so nothing you've earned is lost.

AI

When ChatGPT is asked "brand photographer in Leeds"

Structured data, clear Q&A on each service page and your case studies as sources. Founders are already asking AI for recommendations; almost no photographer in Yorkshire shows up yet.

Clients

Case studies that get forwarded

SkinWorx, Studio 490, Laura Penrose, Ariel White: a page each with the images in use on their sites and socials. Your clients share them. Their followers are your next clients.

How we measure it (you'll see it in your panel)

New emails per week

Target month 1: 10 a week from the freebie form.

Google visits

Target month 3: 800 visits a month from search, no ads.

Booking requests

Target: 6 a month from the booking form, with the Edit pre-selected.

We do all of it. You keep shooting.
