Same camera. Same hours. Twice the business.

A strategy for growing Natasha Cadman Photography without adding more shoot days: higher value per day, recurring income, team clients, and a demand engine that brings founders who are ready to book.

10+ yrs

Proven craft

Weddings worldwide, then brands. Editorial quality that founders rave about ("I've never had that reaction to a branding shoot before").

2 in 1

A rare in-house partner

Jim builds websites. Very few photographers can sell a finished brand presence end to end.

9

Shoots published in October alone

SkinWorx, Studio 490, Ariel White, Laura Penrose. Demand is there.

The ceiling isn't demand. It's days.

$$£ = D \times V$$

Revenue is shoot days times value per day. As a mum of three, Natasha can't sell many more days. So every lever in this plan does one of three things: raises value per day, earns without a new day (recurring and digital), or fills the days she has with better-paying clients.

£450

Typical value per shoot today (working assumption)

A mix of Portrait and Content Edits, plus editing and admin time that never gets billed.

~2 hrs

Lost per booking to email back-and-forth

Every "enquire for details" means quotes, dates and a deposit chased by hand. That's unbilled time.

0

Income that arrives without a shoot

No retainer, no membership, no team contract. Every month starts at zero.

Value per shoot is a modelling assumption, to replace with real figures

Build a price ladder people climb.

Today the Edits jump from £300 to £895 with nothing above. Add a top tier so £895 looks like the sensible middle, and make the Content Edit the obvious choice. The jump in average order value comes from structure, not from working more.

The Brand Day: a full day, two locations, hair and makeup partner, Reels, a 90-day content plan and a website image set ready for Jim. Priced for founders launching or rebranding.

+£100

On the Content and Complete Edits

Prices stated on the page and booked online support a modest rise, especially with case studies showing results.

Clients choosing the Brand Day (target)

Even a few top-tier bookings pull the average shoot value from about £450 towards £700.

Add-ons

Sold at booking, not after

Extra images (£25 each), rush delivery (£95), Reel pack (£195), team headshot add-on (£60 per person). Small, easy yeses.

The Brand Library: a membership.

Her best clients need fresh images every season, not once. Turn that into a quarterly membership: four short seasonal sessions a year, batched into two studio days per quarter, so members are shot back to back.

£195

Per month

12-month term. Four seasonal mini shoots, 20 images each, priority dates.

12

Members by month 12

Drawn from past Content and Complete Edit clients first.

£28k

A year, recurring

12 × £195 × 12 months, on just eight batched studio days a year.

Why it works: SkinWorx, Studio 490 and her other repeat brands already come back. A membership turns "we should book Tash again" into a standing order, and it smooths the quiet months.

Team days for clinics, salons and studios.

The SkinWorx team shoot is the proof. Aesthetics clinics, salons, Pilates studios, law and accounting firms in Leeds need consistent team headshots and brand imagery, and they pay as a business, not from a personal budget.

TEAM DAY PACKAGE	PRICE
Team headshots, up to 10 people Consistent backdrop, on site, half day	£950
Full brand day for the business Team, treatments, space, founder portraits	£1,850
Annual refresh contract New starters and seasonal imagery, 2 visits a year	£2,400/yr

1 a month

Target

One team day a month is worth more than four Portrait Edits, in a single day.

Team pricing is proposed; based on Leeds commercial headshot market rates

The Strategy Clinic and group brand days.

Website + photography as the flagship

Jim's website service is her highest-value product, and it lives on a separate brand. Bring it into the main site as the top offer: every founder who books a Complete Edit or the Brand Day gets offered the site, already shot for.

£1,750+

Per package today

Rises to £3,500 with the Brand Day included.

Complete Edit and Brand Day clients upgrading (target)

They already need a site that matches the images.

Group brand days and the retreat

She already runs an "Industry Day" branding shoot and a retreat. Make them a fixed calendar: one group brand day a month, eight founders, 45 minutes each, in a hired studio.

£1,560

Per group day

8 founders × £195. One day, no travel.

Feeder

The best upsell in the business

Group-day attendees are warm leads for the Content Edit and the membership.

A demand engine, not a feed.

01

One clear position

"Editorial brand photography for female founders in Leeds." Remove the wedding-era titles and URLs, redirect them, and split family work onto its own page so Google knows which Natasha to send people to.

02

Case studies that rank

A page per client (SkinWorx, Studio 490, Ariel White, Laura Penrose) targeting "[industry] brand photographer Leeds". Each one is proof and a search entry point, and clients share their own.

03

Freebies to the Content Edit

One form for the Posing Guide, 25 prompts and the checklist, then four emails over ten days ending in a Content Edit offer. The bio link does one job: grow the list.

04

A referral circle

Web designers, VAs, business coaches and stylists in Yorkshire refer founders for 10% or a reciprocal shoot. Five partners sending one client a quarter is twenty bookings a year.

SEASONAL

Black Friday gift vouchers, sold to the list

6 individual shoots, 1 team day, 1 group day, plus two half-days of batched membership sessions each quarter.

35%

Membership plus team contracts make the quiet months predictable.

All figures are a model built on her current prices and conservative take-up. Replace the baseline with real numbers and the plan scales the same way.
